

The Owingsville Outlook.

VOL. XVIII.

OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1897.

NO. 34.

All roads are traveled thickly now by spring movers.

The entrance of March, Monday, was sufficiently lamb-like.

Genuine Vulcan Plow Points at Jno. A. Ramsey & Co.'s.

Born, Feb. 27th, to Robt. L. Blevins and wife, on Flat Creek, a daughter.

Since the cold weather fruit is abundant and the price is down for that staple.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. George Karriek, on McCullah's Branch, Feb. 26, a son.

Capt. E. Q. Wells last week sold a weanling steer calf to J. B. Goodpaster for $25.

A few tobacco beds have been burned, but nothing like the amount in former years.

Farmers are having very good luck with their spring plows, not as many dying as usual.

Reuben Piersall rented the 55-acre farm of the Stephen Clayton estate for $65, Monday.

Plenty of timber and coal went down Licking when the water got down to the proper stage.

Colder, with snow, last week; warmer, with rain, this week, are the weather characteristics.

By kindly returning that book you have of mine you will oblige JOHN A. RAMSEY.

Smokers, Attention! Try the "Engagement Ring" Cigar, at R. T. Gault's grocery.

Newt Lane was acquitted at Versailles. He was tried for killing the Rodenbaughs, father and son.

T. S. Shroat leads in Low Prices on Furniture, Buggies and Undertaking. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Don't forget to see T. S. Shroat's Large Stock of Furniture before buying, if you want to save money.

Next Monday will be County Court day. The adjourned session of Circuit Court will meet the 3d Monday.

Full stock of Oliver Chilled Plows and Repairs, not bogus, but genuine, at Jno. A. Ramsey & Co.'s.

WANTED.—A good stallion; will buy or farm. Price must accord with the times. Apply to Dr. G. W. Conner.

Dr. G. W. Conner is making substantial improvements already on the Main street property bought of Mrs. Mary F. Donaldson.

Buy a Bell's Hillside Plow. It is the best Hillside Plow on the market. Iron clad guarantee. Jno. A. Ramsey & Co.

If high waters prompt the fish to migrate from the larger to the smaller streams fishing ought to be good in all the larger creeks this spring.

Clark Crouch will get a new and more powerful engine to run his electric machinery and mill. The one he has wastes steam and is not satisfactory.

Several from Montgomery county and the southwestern edge of Bath came and danced at the regular Friday night hop at the Conner Hotel last week.

The high water fell short about six feet of the record made at Wyoming in February, 1884, but it was disagreeable and discommoding enough as it was.

There will be just 24 weeks more of calendar winter, but in reality there are at least two more months in which winter and spring usually "rattle" considerably for the ascendancy.

The old reliable nursery of Hillenmeyer, of Lexington, has an ad. in this paper now. Read it. He has no agents, but sells direct to the fruit-grower. He deserves your trade. Try him.

The candidates were here Monday to put up for the county primary on April 10th. Six for Assessor and seven for Jailor made their deposits. All others paid in the required assessments.

See our stock of housekeeper's outfit, Stoves, Tubs, Buckets, Sifters, Churns, Washboards, Queensware and Glassware, before buying. We will save you money. Jno. A. Ramsey & Co.

SHROUT WILLIAMS.—Mr. Samuel Shroat and Miss Lou Williams were married Thursday, Feb. 25th, at the home of the bride's brother, Joseph Williams, south of town. The groom is the son of Thomas F. Shroat, residing on the pike to Preston. He is an industrious young man. The bride is the attractive daughter of the late Squire Wm. H. Williams. The Outlook extends good wishes.

DISCOVERED JUST IN TIME.—Last Monday the residence of Wm. Atchison (the original John A. Turner property) caught fire in the roof by one of the chimneys. It was in a blaze when first seen and the alarm given. W. D. Lightfoot, assisted by Alex Powers and Stuckney Daniel, was moving into the Kincaid house across the street. They secured a ladder and climbed up and put out the fire in short order. But slight damage was done.

Don't be put off with imitation or just as good. Buy the old Regular Standard Oliver Chilled. The original chilled plow and guaranteed in all cases or money refunded. Jno. A. Ramsey & Co.

NOTICE.—Those knowing themselves indebted to us, either by note or account, are requested to call at Farmers Bank and settle. We need the money, and must have it at once. Very respectfully, GOODPASTER & KILLPATRICK.

MRS. BURELL TIPTON'S DEATH.—Mrs. Burrell Tipton died, of cancer of the stomach, at her home, in Mt. Sterling, Sunday. She was the mother of Mrs. Charles W. Nesbitt, of this town. Interment in Maple-leaf Cemetery, Mt. Sterling, Monday.

The singing of the robins these mornings bring thoughts of fishing to the masculine element, and suggest, also, that gardening time is approaching, to the good housewife. Even the men sometimes find a fleeting pleasure in spading, under the delusion they are digging bait.

GOOD HORSES AND GOOD PRICES.—J. B. Goodpaster on Monday sold to C. E. Still, of Kirkville, Mo., an 8-year-old Baron Wilkes mare for $450; and a 2-year-old filly out of the same mare by Wilkes Boy for $300. They are finely-bred horses and the prices are pretty good for the times.

A SUGGESTION.—Without wishing to be considered meddling, but solely for the sake of good management, we would suggest that it would be good economy to not start the electric lights until it is really dark and the lights are needed, adding the time saved to the other end and giving an hour or two later service.

HOUSE BURNED.—On Tuesday morning a tenant house on the Nim Byrd farm near Springfield Church burned. A man named Wm. Warner (not our Will) moved from the house Monday. It is not known whether it caught accidentally or was set on fire. The loss was about $300. There was no insurance. This is the second house Mr. Byrd has burned, without insurance.

BATH TOBACCO SALES IN LOUISVILLE.—Feb. 22d.—3 hds. lugs at $6.80, 6.10, 4; 7, trash, $3.20, 3.10, 2, 1.60 to 1.

Feb. 23d.—4 hds. lugs and trash at $4.10, 2.60, 2.35.

Feb. 24th.—5 hds. leaf, lugs and trash at $9.50, 9, 7.10, 6.50, 4.05 to 3.20.

Feb. 26th.—14 hds. leaf, lugs and trash at $8.40, 6, 5.55, 3.55, 3, 2.40 to 1.95.

DEATH OF JOHN KARRICK, JR.—John Karrick, Jr., of near Stepentown, died, at 4:30 o'clock p. m. Monday, of heart trouble and inflammatory rheumatism. Burial Tuesday afternoon at the Geo. M. Carpenter graveyard. Deceased was a son of Wash Karrick, of Salt Lick, and was an industrious, good citizen. He was aged about 36 years. He married a daughter of Winfield Carpenter. His wife and a son survive.

THE JUDICIAL DIST. PRIMARY.—Saturday of this week, March 6th, several somebodies will be defeated for the nominations for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney. That is the reasonable way to look at it. The other way is to confidently expect each candidate nominated, on the arithmetical claim showing made by himself or friends. The race is a complicated one for Judge. We will all know the nominees when the result of the primary is authoritatively announced.

REV. COOPER'S MEETING.—The series of meetings at the Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. W. B. Cooper, of Lexington, for the past week, closed Tuesday night. While there have been no accessions to the Church, the sermons have been instructive and edifying, and good has been accomplished. The people have attested their appreciation of his efforts by giving Rev. Cooper good congregations each night, and close attention throughout the service.

A CARD.—To the Voters of the 21st Judicial District: It has been intimated to me that some of my enemies will, as an electioneering scheme, on election day circulate the report that I have withdrawn from the race for Commonwealth's Attorney, thereby hoping to lessen my strength, and this card is written so as to warn the people to not be deceived by the and like reports. I am in this race to stay until the vote is counted. I am still soliciting your votes and remain, Yours very truly, JAS. P. CASSIDY, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

MRS. KENDALL WEDDING.—Mrs. Mary, Special to Outlook, Married, Feb. 24th, Mr. M. H. Myers and Miss Lettie Kendall, Rev. Weightman officiating. The bride is the pretty and accomplished daughter of Presley Kendall. She was tastefully attired in a costume of handsome material. The groom is a prominent farmer and in every respect is worthy of the fair bride. He has won. He looked the personification of happiness, and well he might, securing, as he has, one of Nicholas' fairest daughters. May their future be bright and happy. Is the sincere wish of their many friends here.

Young Mr. McClure, of Springfield Church neighborhood, was a pleasant caller on THE OUTLOOK Tuesday.

John McAllister, of Bethel, visited his brother and sister, C. G. McAllister and Mrs. C. W. Goodpaster, the past week.

Mrs. D. S. Estill left Thursday to attend the spring millinery openings at Cincinnati, which commenced March 1st.

Mrs. T. H. Brown and son Morris returned Saturday from a visit to her parents, Col. and Mrs. D. S. Trumbo, of Bethel.

NEW FIRM.—Samuel P. and Wm. Atchison on Monday bought the stock of drugs, groceries, etc., of F. M. Ewing & Co., at the northeast corner of Main and Jefferson streets, and will continue the business there.

A REGULAR WILD-CAT.—When Tom Daugherty goes a-cattin' he sometimes goes a wild-cattin'. He made such an excursion to Morehead Tuesday and brought back on Friday a thirty-pound, six-dollar stump-tailed Dollie beauty, that is wild-eyed and savage-looking enough to make the cold shivers creep over a body merely at a sight of him. Tom and Sam Fratan are partners in his wild-cat-ship, and have built for him a four-foot-square cage. They have him on exhibition, and may "pull off" a fight between him and some dog whose owner is ambitious for honors in the wild-cat-and-dog gladiatorial ring.

Tobacco Report.—EXPRESSLY FOR THE OUTLOOK BY J. S. PHELPS & CO., PLANTERS' WAREHOUSE.—Louisville, Ky., Feb. 27, 1897.—We like our market better this week than we did at the close of last. While there has been no advance in values, we think prices have been steadier and more regular on all grades. The pressure to sell still continues, but receipts have been much lighter than they were last week. Sellers have generally gone home well pleased with the prices paid them for their heavy-bodied red tobacco below $9. The better grades selling between $9 and $12 have not been so satisfactory to farmers. A few hogheads of choice selections that have been sold during the week gave satisfaction. $18.50, the highest price obtained this week, was for a hoghead grown in Franklin Co. The bright lugs and trashes when they showed decided color were fairly active and generally satisfactory to sellers. The common red lugs and trashes when lacking in body and of a dingy bad color have also sold very low. A great deal of tobacco in this crop is badly specked; we presume this was caused by the wet weather at cutting time. The sale of such tobacco has been very disappointing to sellers. The real common crops and all badly form-temed tobaccos continue to sell at very low prices.

We cannot see any change in the price of old tobacco in the past two or three weeks. The quality of the offerings has been very poor. When a really good hhd. in perfect condition appears it is in demand at a satisfactory price. A large part of the offerings of old tobacco is made up of common lugs and trashes, generally in very bad condition, and these sorts continue to sell very low.

The indications are that our sales will be very full all next week, but if the cold, windy weather continues a few days longer we expect to see the volume of business decrease after next week.

PERSONAL.

Joe Sheehan visited friends at Salt Lick Sunday.

A. J. Gatewood, of Louisville, is up on a visit to relatives.

Rev. J. L. Irvin filled Rev. W. B. Cooper's pulpit, at Lexington, Sunday.

E. H. Goodpaster and Emmett Fratan were in Lexington Monday on business.

Mrs. W. C. Tipton, of near Wyoming, visited friends here the first of the week.

Mrs. Lucy Hampton left Saturday to attend the millinery openings at Cincinnati.

John A. Ramsey spent from Friday until Sunday in Mt. Sterling on Masonic business.

Robert Moores, of Cincinnati, visited his mother, Mrs. Josephine Moores, the past week.

Bert McMillen, after a visit with relatives here, left for his home at West Union, last Saturday.

Miss Lucy Colville, of Paris, visited Mrs. Elva Catlett and Miss Sarepta Ewing the past week.

Marshall Stone moved Monday from the Jacob Kincaid house to Mr. Stone's farm on Upper Prickly Ash.

Mrs. Lizzie Adkinson, of Sharpsburg, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hughes, south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Winn, of Mt. Sterling, returned home Sunday from a visit at Mrs. Elva Catlett's.

B. Lucy and Frank Howard, Morgan county lumber men, were registered at the Owings House Friday.

Osmond F. Byron left Tuesday afternoon for Washington, D. C., to attend the inauguration of McKinley.

Young Mr. McClure, of Springfield Church neighborhood, was a pleasant caller on THE OUTLOOK Tuesday.

John McAllister, of Bethel, visited his brother and sister, C. G. McAllister and Mrs. C. W. Goodpaster, the past week.

Mrs. D. S. Estill left Thursday to attend the spring millinery openings at Cincinnati, which commenced March 1st.

Mrs. T. H. Brown and son Morris returned Saturday from a visit to her parents, Col. and Mrs. D. S. Trumbo, of Bethel.

Mrs. Eliza McIntosh, widow of Thomas McIntosh, is very sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Deal, in Montgomery Co.

Miss Lucy H. Faris, who had been spending the winter with Mrs. John W. Faris, of Bald Eagle, has gone to make her home with her sister, Mrs. B. R. Duncan, of Carlisle.

Squire Thomas J. Hendrix, of Carlisle, moved with his family to the W. H. Scott property on Slate Avenue. Squire is a native Bath county man and is welcomed back to old Bath.

Miss Mary Bruce, of Vanceburg, was here last week. She is engaged in foreign mission work for the Methodist church. She is related to the Conner family and visited her numerous relatives here and in the county.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes returned home Thursday from a protracted visit with the family of Dr. G. M. Curry, at Lebanon, O. They report the Doctor's family all well and getting along nicely. Dr. Curry has all the practice he can attend to.

Elder and Mrs. T. S. Tinsley and son Timothy visited the family of C. C. Hazelrigg from Tuesday until Friday of last week, when they left for the Big Sandy River country, where Elder Tinsley will continue the prosecution of his evangelical work.

Marcellus Donaldson and family, of this town, and Marion Doggett and family, of near Reynoldsville, will leave this week to make their home in Oklahoma. Mrs. Wm. J. Zimmerman and children, of Prickly Ash, will accompany them to Missouri to join her husband. The many friends of these families will wish them all good luck, health, prosperity and happiness in their new homes.

STATE NEWS.

The Kentucky River finally got a $200,000 dip in the Sundry Civil bill in the Senate.

At Prestonsburg, Milton Franklin got a life sentence for the murder of Thomas Stafford.

In Morgan Co., Frank Lewis shot Sanford Harris in the breast and face with a shotgun.

Fire destroyed a large amount of property on the Watwood Road square in Wickliffe, Ballard Co.

Dillard Kinney was sentenced to be hanged, at Winchester, May 15, for the murder of Aaron Adams.

John Litsenberger, aged 29, was crushed to death between cars of the C. & O. work train at Ashland.

Noah Franklin will be tried on the charge of murdering Daisy Sullivan, in Marshall county, this week.

Eight unmasked raiders removed the toll-gate pole on the lower Jackstown turnpike in Nicholas Co.

At Richmond, in a crap-game quarrel Deputy Circuit Clerk Calvin Gorman was requested to detect the sender if he could. He expressed the belief, it is said, that the lady's uncle, Dr. W. H. Swearingen, had killed the child, in Bourbon county.

Schrader, the "divine healer," was in Lexington recently and didn't take very well. He came to Winchester last week.

It is estimated that timber to the value of nearly a million dollars went down the Kentucky river on the tide last week.

The Ohio river at Louisville got to thirty-five and four-tenths feet, the highest rise since Feb. 15, 1884, when it was 47.7 ft.

The Federal grand jury has returned indictments against several of those who disturbed the elections at Lexington in last November.

Robert McGill, who, through jealousy, shot and killed his wife with a Winchester rifle at Ragland, McCracken Co., was arrested and jailed at Paducah.

Turnpike raiders burned the bridge over Benson Creek on the Frankfort and Louisville road. It is difficult to see any benefit to them in that sort of work.

Dr. Hunter says it's a fight to a finish, regular rules, with him for the U. S. Senatorship. He claims to have the support of a majority of the Republican members of the General Assembly.

In the Owen Co. Circuit Court Alvin Adams, for killing his brother-in-law John Perkins, in 1894, got a 2-year-sentence. Andrew Jackson was fined $50 for cutting Harry Ogden at Moxley last fall.

At Bowling Green, the widow of Robert Bittner got a judgment for $5,000 against the estate of James S. Morehead because the Bittner was struck on the head by Morehead with an iron bar and killed.

Heavy withdrawals caused the Louisville United States Building and Loan Association to file a deed of assignment to the Columbia Finance and Trust Co. It is claimed to be solvent, but its investments are in such a condition that money can not be collected fast enough to pay off withdrawing members.

The Christian county Republican primary election caused a deal of soreness and charges of fraud. The custodians of the poll-books burned the books "for the sake of party harmony," and caused a sensation.

Mrs. Thomas Merrill was fined $50 at Lexington for whipping Mrs. Frank Corbin. The husband of the latter is a prominent contractor. The whipping resulted from his wife's jealousy of Mrs. Merrill, so it is alleged.

Jailer Matney offered $50 reward for the recapture of the four prisoners who escaped from the Pikeville jail: Henry McCoy, grand larceny; James Kelley, murder; Zach Walters, house-breaking, and Henry Ford, shooting with intent to kill.

Milton B. Smith, City Treasurer of Georgetown, disappeared, leaving a note stating that he would never return. His wife and two children were left behind. His accounts appear to be straight and the cause of his departure is not definitely known.

A squabble is promised over the reward offered by the State for the murderer of Pearl Bryan, Sheriff Jule Plummer has applied for it. Poock, the shoe man, who first discovered the clue, wants it, as does the Greenestle (Ind.) telegrapher who tipped the officers and lost his position in consequence.

The Federal authorities are making it extremely warm for those implicated in the wrecking of the German National Bank at Louisville. The municipal authorities are piling up indictments and trouble for the corrupt officials. Altogether the way of some of the Louisville transgressors is as hard as nails.

Toll-gate raiders broke out again in Lincoln county last week and destroyed three gates. The grand jury had been instructed by Judge Saufley with particular and severe reference to the toll-gate raiders. The Fiscal Court has bought some of the roads and is trying to buy all of them, consequently the good people are indignant at the raiders.

Rev. J. A. Lee, of Covington, bore an alleged confession of Alonzo Walling to Greenestle, Ind., to present it to the family of Pearl Bryan and try to induce them to interfere in Walling's behalf for execution. A brother of the dead girl, Alonzo Lee, from seeing the family, it is thought, that Walling will finally make public all the details of the affair.

Gov. Bradley having been informed that the chances are against the seating of a Senatorial appointee, it is said, will be guided by the party authorities at Washington and call together the General Assembly to attempt the election of a Senator, leaving the responsibility on the Steering Committee and Chairman Marcus A. Hanna.

Some one had been writing obscene letters to Miss Allen, a highly respectable young lady of Hays, Warren Co. Postmaster Calvin Gorman was requested to detect the sender if he could. He expressed the belief, it is said, that the lady's uncle, Dr. W. H. Swearingen, had killed the child, in Bourbon county.

Lloyd Jett, a white boy aged about fifteen years, Lon Scott, colored, and a white and a white boy named Lawrence Mitchell were hauling fodder on the farm of Dr. J. W. Powell near Newtown, Scott Co. The boys chased a mouse that ran out of a fodder-shock. Jett had a pocket-knife in his hand. Scott jerked Jett by the wrist to ward him and the blade of the knife penetrated Scott's heart, killing him in a short time.

The Ky. Midland R. R. was reorganized by its new owners under the name of the Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway Co. The incorporators are the principal creditors of the old Midland, for whom the road was recently bought by Asila Cox. They are H. F. Mason, I. B. Mason, W. F. Dandridge, John King, Chas. E. Hoge, Thomas Rodman and B. C. Milam, who are either banker creditors or members of the construction company.

Arthur F. Curran, of Dover, formerly a member of the Mason county Democratic Committee, ex-Postmaster and ex-Mayor of Dover, ex-editor of the News, ex-Governor clerk at Washington by Cleveland's appointment, etc., announces that he will accept the Republican nomination for Assessor of Mason county. He was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the same office when he made his sudden change of politics.

Arthur W. Platt was brought back from England on the charge of murdering Jessie Tyree, an inmate of the Lexington E. K. Asylum while Platt was an attendant there in 1885. He has served a six-months term for railroad robbery in England and while incarcerated there confessed his identity and said he was wanted at Lexington for the murder. He thought the witnesses dead and that he would escape both the term in England and responsibility for his crime in Kentucky. Finding out his mistake he denied his confession.

"The Conquered Banner."

Perhaps no poem ever touched and thrilled the hearts of the people of the South as did "The Conquered Banner," by Father Ryan. It came from the heart of the poet at the time when the southland stood in grief and in untold sorrow. Though his face wore a serious and almost sad aspect, he dearly loved to gather children about him, as he seldom spoke to older people. He always held that little children were angels that walked with God, and that it was a privilege for a priest to raise his hand and give spotless childhood a blessing, writes Aquila, in Colorado Catholic.

It was several years ago that Aquila met with a young lady from the South who related to him the following beautiful and touching incident in the poet's life.

"One Christmas I was then a little girl," says the young lady, "I came to father Ryan with a book mark—a pretty little scroll of the 'Conquered Banner,' and begged him to accept it. I can never forget how his lips quivered as he placed his hand upon my head and said (a little kindly remembrance touched him so):

"Call your little sisters and I will tell them a story about this picture."

"Do you know, my little children," he said as we gathered about his knee, "that people said that the 'Conquered Banner' is a great poem?" "I never thought so," he continued, "in that dreamy, far off way so peculiarly his own. But a poor woman who did not have much education, but whose heart was filled with love for the South, thought so, and if it had not been for her, this poem would have been swept out of the house and burned up, and I would never have had this pretty book mark or this true story to tell."

"Oh, you are going to tell us how you came to write the 'Conquered Banner'?" I cried, all interest and excitement.

"Yes," he answered, "I am going to tell you how a woman was the medium of its publication." Then a shadow passed over his face, a dreamy shadow that was always there when he spoke of the "Lost Cause," and he continued:

"I was at Knoxville when the news came that Gen. Lee had surrendered at Appomattox court house. It was night, and I was sitting in my room in a house where some of the regiments which I was chaplain, were quartered, when I heard a sad-sounding cry and said to myself 'All is lost! General Lee has been surrendered.' I looked at him. I knew by his whitened face that the news was too true. I simply said: 'Leave me,' and he went out of the room. I bowed my head upon the table and wept long and bitterly. Then a thousand thoughts came rushing through my brain. I could not control them. That banner was conquered, its folds must be folded, but its story had to be told. We were very poor, my dear little children, in the days of the war. I looked around for a piece of paper to give expression to the thoughts that cried out within me. All that I could find was a piece of brown wrapping paper that lay on the table about an old pair of shoes that a friend had sent me. I seized this piece of paper and wrote 'The Conquered Banner.'

"Then I went to bed leaving these lines there upon the table. The next morning the regiment was ordered away and I thought no more of the lines written in such sorrow and such desolation of the spirit on that fateful night. What was my astonishment a few weeks later to see them appear above my name in a Louisville paper. The poor woman who kept the house in Knoxville had gone, as she afterwards told me, into the room where I had slept and was about to throw the piece of paper into the fire when she saw that there was something written upon it. She said that she sat up and cried, and copying them she sent them to a newspaper in Louisville. And that was how the 'Conquered Banner' got into print. That is the story of this pretty little scroll you have painted for me."

"When I get to be a woman," said the young lady, "I am going to write that story." "Are you?" he answered. "Ah, it is dangerous to be a writer, especially for a woman, but if you are determined, let me give you a name," and he wrote on a piece of paper the word Zola. "It is an Indian name," he said in explanation, "and it means a snow bird. You will always remember like a snow bird to keep your white wings unsullied. A woman should always be pure, and every mother should teach her boys to look upon a woman as they would upon an altar."

Thus far the incident was related to me by my southern friend.

Many and many a time in the hurry and bustle of the noisy world the words of the gentle poet priest come back to me and in writing this little sketch for the Colorado Catholic, of how it was through a woman's thoughtfulness that the great southern epic was given to the world, I cannot refrain from repeating this little tale, which was the outgrowth of this story and which might prove a help and a benediction in many a woman's life.

The
TWICE-A-WEEK
COURIER-JOURNAL
$1.00
A YEAR.
Issued Wednesday and Saturday Mornings.
Beginning January 1, 1897, the Weekly Courier-Journal was changed to the Twice-a-Week Courier-Journal. Publication days Wednesday and Saturday. The Wednesday paper will be devoted to news and political topics. The Saturday issue will be devoted to stories, miscellany, pictures, poetry, etc.—a perfect family paper. Each issue will be six pages, or twelve pages a week—an increase of two pages a week, 104 pages or 832 columns a year. The politics of the paper will not be changed, and the battle for pure Democracy and true Democratic principles will be continued successfully in the future as in the past. In spite of the expense involved in the improvements noted, the price of the Twice-a-Week Courier-Journal will remain the same, $1 a year. A feature during the coming year will be the editorials of Mr. Henry Watterson on political and other topics of the day.

The OWINGSVILLE OUTLOOK and either of the following will be sent for one year for the price named: OUTLOOK and Twice-a-week Louisville Courier-Journal, $1.50. OUTLOOK and Weekly Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, $1.40.

The Cuban war has trained a large number of experts in the gentle art of lying.

WITHOUT doubt, there is one American who wouldn't trade jobs now with McKinley, and that man is Grover Cleveland.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has pleased us better than we could have told him how to do it. We don't know any higher praise.

NEARLY fifty millions over a billion is the expenditure record of the Congress just past. To spend the most in hard times is hardly praiseworthy economy.

Gov. BRADLEY has written his call for the extra session of the General Assembly, leaving the date blank. He specifies between thirty and forty subjects for legislation.

The old story of Weyler's resignation is going the rounds again. It probably means he is resigned to the honors and emoluments of the command of the Spanish forces in Cuba.

The U. S. Senate played to the galleries last Thursday, and the sentiment of the gallery gods was enthusiastically for war with Spain. Of course the galleries would fight out and pay for such a frolic.

The Great Powers are rather marking time on the Cretan question. They would agree to let Greece take Crete if they could decide as to the apportionment of the balance of the Turkish Empire.

The Republican Evans contingent of Tennessee were so sore over the turning down of H. Clay Evans for a Cabinet position that they would not go to the inauguration. A feud between the Evans and Brownlow factions is promised.

The foot-ball players, the expeditious, the expert rough-and-tumble fighters and the pickpockets among the participants will enjoy the McKinley inaugural ball. The others will simply endure it because it is the thing of the hour.

SOME Congressmen introduced a bill into the House prohibiting newspapers from publishing detailed reports of pugilistic fights, pictures of such fights, etc. It belongs to the freak class of legislation with which the country is afflicted now.

CONGRESSMAN GROSVENOR, of Ohio, delighted the Webster Flanagan of the House and galleries last week by a vigorous assault on the Civil Service laws and policies. It is a mystery to a great many politicians that there should be anything else than spoils in politics.

SENATOR DUBOIS, of Idaho, warned the Republican side of the Senate that the Republican party as a party has written its last law on the statute books; that if they get a new protective tariff law through it will not be by Republican votes, for they haven't got them, will not have them, nor can they get them in the near future.

THE last week of Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson as president of the U. S. Senate was made especially happy for that gentleman by the whole Senate presenting to him a handsome and valuable silver table service, consisting of center-piece, soup-tureen, vegetable dishes, meat platter, large pitchers, waiters, etc.

THERE is said to be in progress the importation of 500,000,000 pounds of wool, to anticipate the proposed tariff on wool and form a corner on that commodity. The same will be done in other lines and trade kept deranged for years after the enactment of the higher protective tariff. That thing of "protection" is an awful harassment and robbery of the masses.

A most interesting phase of the political drift of the times in the South is the obvious tendency on the part of the leaders of the former Democratic party to add to the cheap-money article of faith the advocacy of a protective tariff on Southern products, thus effecting a radical change of front in the principles and policies of that great party. A large part of the Southern leaders on the Democratic side have never appeared to be at heart for a tariff for revenue only. In fact, they have not seemed to be Democrats at heart at all, but united with the party only account of the prejudices of the Civil War issues and on account of the negro question.
